LAKE DISTRICT GREEN LANES ALLIANCE

An alliance for everyone who wants to protect the historic green lanes of the Lake District for farming access and quiet, non-motorised recreation

The aims of the Lake District Green Lanes Alliance

To campaign for the prohibition of recreational motor vehicles on green lanes in the Lake District National Park:

- By arguing that recreational activities in the Lake District should be essentially quiet, non-destructive and non-polluting.
- By showing that recreational use of green lanes by 4x4s and motorbikes makes routes unpleasant or impossible for non-vehicle users and causes disruption, inconvenience and distress for farmers.
- By encouraging the Lake District National Park Authority and Cumbria County Council to use their powers to prohibit recreational motor vehicles through Traffic Regulation Orders (TROs). Programmes for the introduction of such orders should be energetically promoted.

Traffic Regulation Orders make exemptions for farmers and people with disabilities.

What are green lanes?

Green lanes are 'unsealed' and have no tarmac or concrete coating. They are part of our cultural heritage and many of them date back centuries. Their original purpose was to provide routes for farmers, packhorses or horse-drawn carts. They were never designed with motor vehicles in mind, but current highway laws allow recreational 4x4 drivers and motorcyclists to use them.
